

Making Things Happen – Exploring Your Will and Intention

Many people who are successful are successful by choice, because they are able to put together a plan that leads them a goal they have set for themselves.

Others say that they have been successful because they have prayed, used affirmation and visualization, and intended to have a certain result—almost miraculously, they attest, these results manifested for them.

How can these polar opposite ways of manifesting desires both bring the same results? To understand this mystery, we must gain a greater understanding of what is your will, your wish, and your intention.

Will, also called volition or conation, is the ability to make your physical body and your vehicles of consciousness obey your suggestion.

Wish, which is the volitional nexus of the spirit, is usually expressed as a yearning or longing that magnetizes the object of your spirit's desire. When this "wish faculty" is activated within you, we say you have created a "magnetic center."

Intention is the active projection of thought that emanates from your attentional principle. Those of you who are taking or have taken one of our basic courses know that intention plays a key role in (1) activating your transformational mantra, (2) moving your attentional principle out of the pituitary focus during direct projection, (3) sending out the Light during attunement meditation, and (4) autohypnosis and affirmation.

Why You Don't Always Get What You Want

Sometimes people come up with a really good plan, but despite their best efforts using this active approach, they don't achieve their goals.

Those who adopt the passive approach also experience the same frustration—though they pray, decree, believe, affirm, intend, and visualize until they are nearly blue, their intended outcome has not manifested.

What could be going wrong? Several things might be happening that are getting in the way.

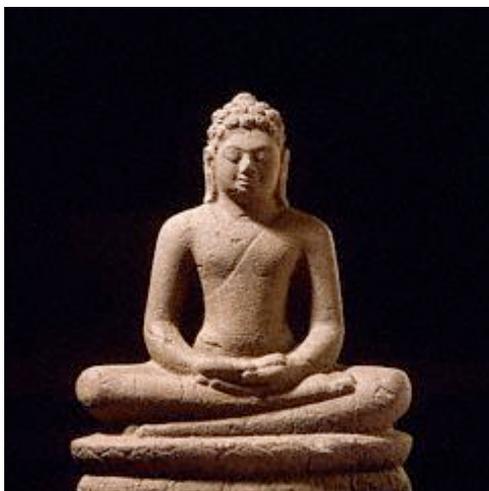

- (1) You do not foresee all contingencies with your plan in advance, so an unplanned event derails your progress. (Active)
- (2) You unwittingly sabotage your efforts by actively attracting it by your desire, and pushing it away with your fear. (Active and passive)
- (3) You make several attempts, you are not successful, and then you give up. (Active and passive)
- (4) You rationalize the reasons for your failure, blame other people, the government, or the stars, and become cynical and bitter. (Active and passive)
- (5) You do not pray, affirm, or believe with sufficient intensity to anchor your suggestion in the Plenum of the Superconscious mind, so the creative power of the Divine Mind is not activated. (Passive)
- (6) You do not gain sufficient information or education, do not adequately prepare, or do not take into account all factors that impact your success, so you do not reach the level necessary to succeed. (Active)

- (7) You do passive methods such as prayer, affirmation, and visualization instead of goal oriented action; you are unclear when to use action and when to use faith. (Active and passive)
- (8) You do not follow directions or instructions properly, so you do not achieve your objective (Active and passive)
- (9) You receive incorrect information and act on it, and are surprised that you were not successful. (Active and passive)
- (10) You believe in luck, omens, and other superstitious ideas, and fail to take appropriate concrete action to achieve your goal. This may also take the form of engaging in wishful or magical thinking, such as imagining you will win the lottery or sweepstakes. (Passive)
- (11) You achieve your goal by harming, betraying, intimidating, threatening, or bullying others (Active); or you use black magic to achieve your aims (Passive).
- (12) You believe the negative messages that others have told you about yourself, so you don't even begin the effort needed to achieve the goal. (Active and passive)
- (13) You come up with many ideas for success, but then don't act on them. (Passive)

For success to occur, you effectively line up (1) conditions in the external world, (2) the right people to help you, (3) the correct knowledge, skills, and resources to complete the task, (4) your belief and faith in your endeavor, (5) sustained and appropriate goal-oriented action, (6) the abilities of your Superconscious mind to help manifest your objective, and (7) the blessings of the Divine and the Masters.

People often don't succeed because they take into account only one or two of these seven factors, and don't properly address the other ones. For example, sometimes people will pray (7) and do metaphysical treatments (6), but they don't plan and sustain their efforts (5), don't deal with their limiting and self-sabotaging beliefs (4), don't get the necessary education and skills needed to complete their objective (3), don't ask for help or don't get reliable and trustworthy people to help them (2), or don't take into account conditions in the world (1).

Reflection on a Goal You Didn't Reach

Think about a goal that you didn't successfully accomplish.

What went wrong? (Recall the 13 misguided strategies)

What factors did you not account for? (Consider the seven factors needed for success)

What would you need to change to be more successful next time?

Getting into Touch with Your Power

Everyone has access to the three personal aspects of will: the strong will or desire-driven will of the ego; the habit force of the etheric body; and the intelligent or skillful will of the Self.

As you evolve spiritually, you open up higher octaves of the will in the Superconscious mind. You can learn to tap into:

- Intention
- Your spirit's wish
- The Primitive will, which allows you to act in concert with the rhythms of Nature (gardeners will understand this aspect of will)
- The Magical will, which allows you to activate your abilities of the Subtle Realm
- The Biophysical will, which allows you to select, court, and establish a relationship with a mate, to parent your children, and live in harmony with Nature
- The Abstract Mind will, which allows you to express your gifts in the Abstract Mind Plane
- The Psychic will, which allows you to operate your psychic abilities
- The Moral will, which allows you to act according to wisdom and spiritual values
- The Solar Angelic will, which allows you to manifest using the power of your Mighty I AM presence
- The Transpersonal will, which is the force that integrates all other aspects of the will in your Superconscious mind
- The Divine will, which attunes your Soul with its purpose and calling
- The will that operates in Cosmic, Supracosmic, and Transcendental Octaves of Being, which allows you to express the spiritual powers (siddhis) of those realms

Introduction to Your Transpersonal Octaves of Will

We will do an inquiry to see if a particular aspect of will that operates in the Superconscious mind is active in you? We will ask:

- Are you active and awake?
- When do you express in me?
- What are your abilities?
- How do you help me manifest my goals?
- How do I connect with you to help me?

We will ask these questions for each higher octave of the will:

- Intention
- Your spirit's wish
- The Primitive will
- The Magical will
- The Biophysical will
- The Abstract Mind will
- The Psychic will
- The Moral will
- The Solar Angelic will
- The Transpersonal will
- The Divine will
- The will that operates in the Cosmic Octave of Being
- The will that operates in the Supracosmic Octave of Being
- The will that operates in the Transcendental Octave of Being

Invocation: Mighty Chohan Morya, you who embody the omnific force of Will Divine for humanity, empower the force of will within me. Guide me to right activity and right use of my will, so I may do my part to carry out my mission and perform my service in keeping with the Great Plan and Purpose of the Divine. So may it be.
